

Betsy Lohrer Hall, M.F.A.

mentorship | curating | teaching | writing | consulting

How can I help? Professional services in the visual arts...

one-to-one mentorship

small group critiques

curatorial services (any size/venue)

consulting on special projects

assistance with writing and research

workshops and creative retreats

Long Beach-based creative, Betsy Lohrer Hall, has more than 25 years of professional experience as an artist, curator, and educator.

My background, in brief: my early training was in realistic drawing and painting, and I worked as a muralist for years. I'm adept in a range of art approaches from painting and printmaking, to mixed media and installations. My work has been exhibited in galleries and museums in the U.S., in Thailand, and Taiwan. I've been awarded two Professional Artist Fellowship grants from the Arts Council for Long Beach, and a public commission at LAX Terminal One. I began teaching studio art and art history at the college level in 2004. Currently at California State University, Fullerton, I teach upper division courses including The History of Women Artists and Writing in the Arts. I've been an independent curator and event producer for 8+ years—at Flux Art Space, collaborating with the artist group FLOOD, and working with other arts organizations such as Antenna and Angels Gate Cultural Center.

How can I support you in realizing your vision?

Please email with questions or to request a price list.

Betsy Lohrer Hall | betsylohrerhall@gmail.com