EMPLOYMENT

2009-Current Associate Professor of Art, Joliet Junior College, Joliet, IL

Ceramics: Instructor of Ceramics I, Ceramics II, Independent Study, and International Ceramic courses. Hand-building and throwing are addressed at all levels. Demonstrations and lectures are given in: handbuilding (pinch, coil, slab) construction; wheel throwing methods; ceramic history; clay and glaze theory; kiln construction; gas reduction, electric, wood and raku firing methods. PowerPoint presentations of both historical and contemporary clay objects are integrated into demonstrations and lectures. The current International Ceramics syllabus follows the historical development of ceramic form and process in Japan. Student learning outcomes are addressed and assessed in formal and informal discussions during the building process, and in group and individual critiques when work is completed. Additional responsibilities include overseeing program direction; equipment and supply budgeting, ordering and inventory; mixing clay and glazes; firing kilns; supervising work-study assistants; maintaining and repairing studio equipment. Facilities include: 3 computerized electric kilns; 1 Alpine up-draft natural gas; 1 Geil Downdraft gas kiln; wood kiln and raku area; 20 Brent electric wheels; Soldner clay Mixer; pugmill; slab roller; extruder; spray booth; glaze formulation supplies and equipment.

3-D Design: Instruction in the basic principles of three-dimensional design. Students are familiarized with working methods in a variety of materials including wire, plaster, wood, and found objects. PowerPoint presentations focusing on contemporary sculpture and design provide introduction to specific art concepts. Student learning outcomes are addressed and assessed in individual discussions and in group critiques of completed assignments. 3D design facilities include: general wood-working power/manual hand tools; compound miter saw; table saw; band saw; drill press; belt sanders; scroll saws; router station; plaster facilities; Lulzbot 3D printer.
