As an artist-educator, my expertise spans the full history of photographic processes — where submersion in a camera obscura, operating a view camera, and digital imaging all serve the realization of the final print. Beyond technical mastery, I view image-making as a vehicle for self-expression. Through generative critique, I guide students to uncover the meaning behind their work and develop a distinct visual voice. Backed by strict safety standards and facility care, I build secure spaces where students can experiment with confidence.
