

JAY HILL FINE ART

2014 & 2015 Finalist in the World Stencil Art Prize, Sydney Australia

ARTIST STATEMENT

I want everything I do to be informed by mindfulness.

For me the beautiful thing about art is its capacity to bring us into the present moment. When I go to a gallery or a museum and spend time looking in depth at a painting, I find that I have a quiet focus and all of the normal inner chatter and daydreaming are no longer there.

I love it when a piece of art brings a smile to my face, and I hope that my work can have that effect on people.

BIO

Jay Hill is a self-taught artist based in Fremont, California.

He likes to say that his work is more of an exploration than a statement.

Says Hill, “The entire spectrum of human emotions fascinate me and I like to explore that in my work. I apply some unusual techniques to get the textures and contrast that I strive for.”

In the years 2014 and 2014 Jay has been a finalist in the pretigious World Stencil Art Prize show at Ambush Gallery in Sydney Australia.

Hill is currently a resident artist at Prince Gallery in Petaluma California. His paintings have shown in Northern and Southern California, Oregon and Sydney, Australia.
