ARTIST BIO

Augustina Droze (b. 1981) is an American visual artist whose vibrant and symbolically rich paintings explore themes of cultural identity, perception, and transformation. Currently based in Beijing, China, Droze has lived and worked in Asia for the past decade, where her art reflects a nuanced dialogue between Eastern and Western aesthetics.

Droze holds an MFA with honors from the University at Buffalo and a Doctorate of Creative Arts from the University of Southern Queensland. Her work has been featured in major exhibitions around the world, including the Florence Art Biennale (Italy), Carrousel du Louvre (France), London Art Biennale (UK), and the Tokyo Metropolitan Art Museum (Japan).

Her achievements include being named Artist to Watch by Artist Magazine (2023) and serving as a Distinguished Artist Envoy at the U.S. Embassy in Beijing (2022). She is also a Fulbright-Nehru Senior Scholar and Fulbright South Asia Regional Travel Grant recipient.

ARTIST STATEMENT

American artist Augustina Droze (b. 1981) uses animals as symbolic surrogates to narrate her lived experiences. Her current body of work reflects her life as a foreigner—her gaze of the world as exotic, beautiful, and bewildering. Having lived as an expatriate in Beijing for the past decade, Droze’s paintings merge elements of East and West, blending visual languages and cultural references.

Her compositions are colorful and confrontational, brimming with Rococo-inspired abundance and intricate detail. Through these vivid scenes, Droze constructs her own modern mythology—a storybook realm where she exists as the “other” in an already otherworldly landscape.

奥古斯汀娜·德罗兹

METAZOA investigates the boundaries of myth, dream and biological paintings of swirling, colorful morphs with flora and fauna in an exuberant explosion. This series explores the interactions of Eastern culture, history and aesthetics through an observer's gaze. A take on magical realism, it offers a hypnotic view into her fantastical otherworldly creatures.

《後生物界》探索神话、梦境和生物绘画的边界。通过华丽的视觉体系，彩色物界与动植物在一次猛烈爆发中化而生的超界表现。这个系列通过观察者的视角，传递了东西方审美理想的相互作用。奥古斯汀娜的魔幻现实主义创造了一个从幻想世界而生的超生物界。
