SUMMARY

As an artist, I believe we have the responsibility to take chances and exercise our creative talents in all aspects of our lives. We were chosen for this lifestyle and should take every advantage in leading our direct communities towards positive change through our creative thought problem-solving process regarding current realities and issues.

I am a self taught artist, raised in the Oak Cliff district of Dallas, TX. My painting style can be described as abstract constructivism. I embrace a variety of mixed-media compositions and incorporate an array of paints and finishes within my art. I integrate textures, strong lines, bold colors and a fine-line collaboration between geometric shapes and circles of union; which precisely balance collectively to create my signature visual compositions.

In regards to art consulting and advising, creating color palettes and designing environments for residential and commercial spaces, that implement Dallas art, are a passion and specialty of mine. Through years of experience, I've refined my database of professional artists and I've become exceptional at developing concepts for large production art events and exhibitions. I'm currently working with several independent artists and developers who firmly believe in hiring and promoting Dallas art for Dallas development projects. We agree it's imperative to the positive growth of our cities professional art community.

I find creative inspiration from legends, such as Leonardo da Vinci, Goya, Egon Shielle, Modigliani, Willem de Kooning, Richard Serra, Isamu Noguchi, Charles Eames and artists associated with Peggy Guggenheim's abstract expressionist movement. Most of my inspiration is found in my own art community in Dallas, TX.
