

Jim Graham is a South Florida based visual artist and educator whose work engages with the connections between landscape, identity, and climate as it specifically relates to lowland coastal communities. He is currently a studio art faculty member in the Dorothy F. Schmidt College of Arts & Letters at Florida Atlantic University, Boca Raton. Graham was formerly a Visiting Assistant Professor of Drawing and Painting at the University of Arizona (2018-2022) and Painting Coordinator at Southeastern Louisiana University (2013-2017). Select recent solo and small-group exhibitions include the Rosemary Duffy Larson Gallery (Miami, FL), Stove Works Gallery (Chattanooga, TN), Greenleaf Gallery (Los Angeles), and The Cole Pratt Gallery (New Orleans). Articles related to these recent exhibitions have been published in the New Orleans Review, Art + Design Magazine, and LUXE Interiors and Design. Jim Graham received his MFA from the University of Illinois in Urbana Champaign (2013) and BFA from Florida State University (2010).

Graham is represented by MTN Space in Lake worth, FL and the Saladino Gallery in Covington, LA
