

Jill Lavetsky is a visual artist and educator originally from South Florida, now living outside of Ithaca, NY. She received a Master's degree in painting from Florida Atlantic University in 2013, and has taught college, K-12 through community outreach, as well as incarcerated women. Her work has been shown in museums and galleries across the United States, including the Boca Raton Museum of Art, and she has had solo exhibitions at CAP Art Space in Ithaca, New York, and at Nova Southeastern University in Davie, Florida. She was awarded residencies at Cowhouse Studios in County Wexford, Ireland, and at Brush Creek AIR in Wyoming.