

Emily's passion for art began at an early age with a love for pencil drawing and pen and ink. After earning her BFA at Mississippi State University, Emily moved to Memphis, Tennessee, and began her career in graphic design. She also launched her own line of handmade paper products before turning her full attention to painting. Working in layers and with bold colors and pure lines, Emily creates unique mixed media works of art. She now lives in Charleston, South Carolina, with her husband, Brooks, and three daughters.