

Catherine Fisk Natale (aka “Katie”)

About the Artist

I am largely a self-trained artist. Since early childhood, I have drawn (charcoal, pen and ink), painted (watercolors), worked with pastels, etc. with occasional classes and university coursework. It was not until 2009 that I began to seriously devote time to my art. I began with watercolors and then—with the encouragement of my Italian artist cousin, Daisy Cabrini—I decided to work with oil.

That wonderful journey began with an advanced oil painting class in 2012 at Northwestern Connecticut Community College and a wonderful teacher, Judy McElhone—an accomplished artist and now executive director of Five Points Gallery and Five Points Art Center in Torrington, Connecticut. Shortly thereafter, I joined the Washington (CT) Art Association and began taking classes and workshops with some outstanding artists. My mentor, Edward Spaulding Devoe, has provided invaluable guidance—not just technique and his vast knowledge of the Great Masters, but with encouragement and inspiration. I also benefit from a community of talented artists who share their insights and artistic journeys with me (both in-person and through Zoom).

In 2020, I was named a juried artist with Voice of Art. I am a member of the following organizations:

- Washington (CT) Art Association
- American Association of Marine Artists
- Voice of Art (juried member)
- Five Points Art Center, Torrington, CT (“professional artist”)
- Canton Artists’ Guild, Inc. (juried member)

My paintings are in private collections in the USA, Canada and the United Kingdom.
