

Artist Bio

Jeffrey Stenbom is a sculptor who primarily works in glass. He lives in Apple Valley, Minnesota. Stenbom works and teaches in the Minneapolis/St. Paul metro area as well as throughout the United States. He has taught as an Associate Lecture at the University of Wisconsin – River Falls. Stenbom has been the recipient of numerous awards and honors including one of two Americans chosen as a finalist for the Stanislav Libenský Awards 2015, Dedalus Foundation Master of Fine Arts Fellowship Nominee, Outstanding Student Achievement in Contemporary Sculpture Award Nominee, Silver Academic Award winner at the 2016 Bullseye Glass Emerge Exhibition and has been a Niche Awards Finalist in 2013, 2015 and 2016. Stenbom exhibits his work internationally and does guest artist lectures nationally. He received his MFA in glass from Tulane University in 2015. He received his BFA in glass and a BS in art education from the University of Wisconsin – River Falls. Stenbom also received an AA in general education and an AFA in art from Normandale Community College in Bloomington, MN.