

MORNING SUITS

By

Helena Mitchell

INT. ROOM DAY

GAZ and CHARLIE are sitting in a room on a sofa together. There is a tension in the air and Charlie is biting his lip. Eventually.

CHARLIE

Good morning -

GAZ

- Yeah...hi. Hi.

CHARLIE

Wow.

GAZ

So what -

CHARLIE

Yes. Yes. Quite. So what? Ha! So what indeed.

GAZ nearly smiles. He goes to say something.

CHARLIE (CONT'D)

I mean...I mean exactly. So what. So what if you're not quite who I thought I'd be...erm...with, today. You know, of all days.

GAZ

It's a Saturday.

CHARLIE

That's right! That is correct. It is a Saturday - not Sunday, that would not be a 'so what' day, oh no -

GAZ

- yeah right. I have work on a Sunday anyway.

(CONTINUED)

CONTINUED:

GAZ (CONT'D)

Well, thats my main shift, you know. I am working today, just a bit, later.

CHARLIE

I know that Gaz -

GAZ

- Yes. Yes. Of course. As you would -

CHARLIE

I would. Yes. I do!

GAZ

Cool! Thats what we're talkin' about.

Charlie tries to smile, succeeds but a bit too much. He laughs out loud and slaps Gaz's leg.

CHARLIE

Sorry -

GAZ

- it's OK -

CHARLIE

A bit nervous actually -

GAZ

Charlie

CHARLIE

Yes?

GAZ

I think you're phone's vibrating.

CHARLIE

Oh really?

(CONTINUED)

CONTINUED: (2)

Charlie looks around the sofa to try and find his phone. GAZ pulls it out from underneath him. There is a blue garter wrapped around it. He hands it to him.

CHARLIE (CONT'D)

Oh! Ha! Found it! Good place to find it. Yep. I'm in a good place.

GAZ

Are you goin' to answer that or...

Charlie answers the phone.

CHARLIE

Yes. Hi Darling. Yes, everything is fine. Oh yes all set! I'm set up. I mean, we're all set. No. You know what I mean.

GAZ is getting up to go.

CHARLIE (CONT'D)

Erm...I'm actually here with Gaz. Yes he is very cool for a vicar. I'm glad too. Married by a cool vicar. None of those stuffy types. No. Well.

GAZ has put his trousers on and brought Charlie a glass of champagne.

CHARLIE (CONT'D)

No babe, we are blessed. And err..Gaz is pretty blessed too. Nothing. Yes. Right. See you then. I will bring him too! Yes. Bye. Oh, Clare -

(CONTINUED)

CONTINUED: (3)

Charlie pauses. So does Gaz.

CHARLIE (CONT'D)

- I found your garter. See you then.

GAZ

See you later.

CHARLIE

Yes, you will.

Charlie is left sitting on the sofa, garter, phone and champagne in hand. Eventually.

CHARLIE (CONT'D)

Right! Wedding...