

Imagination is both building a box to stay in and breaking out of a box you were put in.