

KENDALL AYOUB NICHOLS COMMISSIONS

"This photo is one I've always held near and dear to my heart. When my husband commissioned Kendall to paint that image for my birthday, it was the single greatest gift I have ever been given. It was an overwhelming moment when I received it. Not only did Kendall bring the photo to life but she also captured the emotions and sentiment of such an important moment so beautifully."

-Sheila Rees, Winter, 2023

"Working with Kendall on our painting was a wonderful experience. She truly captured the essence of who we are and gave us a fantastic memento that our family will cherish forever."

Thank you!"

-Andrea and Yves, Spring, 2025

WHAT IS A COMMISSION?

A commission is a customized art form where you determine the subject. When you commission me for a painting, it is something I approach with the utmost care. You are entrusting me to create an original work of art for you that is deeply personal. The process takes time, effort, and skill. A commission is more than just a decorative wall hanging; it celebrates the people and places that matter the most to us.

Commissioned portraiture is an art form that involves both the artist and the client in dialogue to capture the essence of the chosen subject matter. If you are drawn to my work, are interested in commissioning me to create a painting for you, please reach out and let's start the conversation.

PROCESS:

I accept a limited number of commissions per year.

A painting of any size takes a minimum of 2 months to complete. Paintings larger than 36" x 48" can take 4-6 months.

All paintings are oil on canvas.

I work from live sittings and/or photographs.

Live sittings take place 1-2 days per week for 2 hour sessions, over a period of several weeks, with a schedule determined between myself and the sitter.

A photograph can be one you already have, or I can take the reference photos. To ensure best results, all photos need to be of excellent quality: the subject must be in focus and well lit, and the image file must be in high resolution (minimum 2MB).

PRICING:

Investing in a commission starts at $5,000 CAD for an 18"x 24" single subject head and shoulders portrait.

Pricing increases according to scale, number of figures, and complexity.

Framing and shipping are available upon request.

A 1/3 non-refundable deposit is required to secure the painting process.
