Sophia Karina English (they/them) is a latinx crafts person, sculptor, and performance artist from San Francisco, CA and based in Chicago, IL. They received their BFA from the School of the Art Institute of Chicago, with an emphasis in sculpture and fiber arts. Presented with a series of eradicated cultural and personal histories due to colonization, poor record keeping, and family secrets; English uses their work to ask questions and keep track of what feels important at the time. From their home studio, English uses beadwork to reference the Latin American tradition of storytelling through beaded textiles.
