

Artist Bio Rob Cook

Born and raised in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania Rob relocated to Washington, DC after graduating from Carnegie Mellon University with a BARCH. A short-term space planning gig at the University of Maryland School of Medicine's Dean's Office turned into a 27-year career. Upon retiring in 2022 he began pursuing an MFA in sculpture at Towson University.

Over the past two years he has been researching different methods to express the magnificence of trees through charcoal drawings, photography, sculpture and papermaking.