It far exceeded expectation and even though we purchased it, it feels like one of the most precious gifts we could have ever received. On top of that, Miriam is so easy to work with. She just gets it. And that combined with her talent and the way she expresses the love she has for what she does in her work... there are just no other options. It's high class art, it's priceless, it's a moment in time, it's symbolic, and it will forever live on the walls of our home.” – Ethan

"Miriam is a gifted artist and calligrapher who worked with me and my spouse on our ketubah. Ours was a complex project because we are a same-sex couple, I am a rabbi, and there was quite a bit of back-and-forth to get the wording of the ketubah exactly right. Miriam was professional, kind, and open to working with me on the ketubah, and I would recommend her especially to any same-sex couple who want to be sure their document is both meaningful and grammatical. It was a pleasure to be her client." – Ruth & Linda

We picked it up from Mandy's parents yesterday, a big storm blew through the Chicago area (likely you heard about it on the news—the worst in about 30 years!!) and the power was out all night. Regardless, we were so eager to look at it, we brought the flashlights and unveiled the ketubah so that we could see it. It was beautiful last night in the dark, and this morning it looked even more beautiful by daylight! Thank you so much. We cannot wait to frame and hang it proudly in our front hallway when visitors come into our home. Thanks again," – Everett & Mandy
