

Joshua Pack – Artist Bio

Joshua Pack (He/it) is a printmaker, illustrator, and collage artist based out of middle Tennessee, with a BFA in Studio Arts from Austin Peay State University. His work focuses on community engagement, communication, and education while creating an inviting and humorous environment for the viewers.

Many of Joshua's past achievements are several pieces and articles written for the Cut + Paste Magazine ran by Kyle Cargill-Garretson, featured art in the Red Mud Review magazine in the Fall 2026 edition, a purchase award and best-in-show award for Austin Peay State University's 58th Juried Student Exhibition, and a residency in Austin Peay's 2023 Living Gallery (non-permanent mural.)

Joshua also has helped lead and officially found APSU's Print club, who has worked with and for artists from around the globe.
